FLOWERING PLANTS

For Winter Forcing

DELIVERY: OCTOBER-NOVEMBER

AZALEA INDICA

These highly decorative plants are now successfully raised in this country. They have a wide range of color and the flowers will keep from four to six weeks after being forced, provided they are not kept where the heat is too excessive. A few simple instructions might be helpful in handling these plants. If on arrival the roots appear dry, soak them well in a pail of water. After being potted, place them in cool greenhouse. As the desired time for forcing is at hand, they should be transferred to a warmer house and in the process of forcing, the temperature should be increased to from 60-70 deg. until the flowers appear. As flowers develop, temperature should be reduced to give them more substance. Plants that are to flower in early Spring do not require this intense treatment. As some varieties are better adapted for early forcing, we are listing them in the order of flowering.

Bush Plants, $5.00-$10.00 each

We can offer some Standards and Pyramids.

Prices on application.

NEW JAPANESE KURUME AZALEAS

These new Azaleas are a most valuable addition. They present a charming array of new colors and extend the Azalea blooming period from before until after the Azalea indica varieties can be flowered.

Originally imported from the Mountain of Kurume (China) in limited sorts into this country, a few progressive nurserymen saw their possibilities and by hybridization produced new varieties. They are suitable for outdoor planting south of Washington and while not exactly new, many varieties are extremely scarce.

The term Hose-in-Hose used in the description of some varieties applies to a compound flower which is composed of two similar, funnel-shaped flowers, one apparently growing out of the throat of the other.
